

ABSTRACT

A commercial search agent (CSA) is used to access data in a distributed communications system. An initial search request constitutes a buyer's first search query at sellers' commercial database. Analytical agents and seller promotions are used to inform the CSA, while negotiation commences after the initial query.

10010067 120304